AUTO OWNERS OFFER USE OF CARS IN NATION'S SERVICE

Machines to be Used Only in Case of Any Emergency

NO LONG DRIVES NECESSARY

Twenty-three automobile owners of the county have offered their cars to the government for war emergency use in their respective districts, in response to an appeal made only a few days ago by Col. James E. Barnett, chairman of the county public safety committee.

The department of motors and motor trucks of the county public safety committee, which has charge of the registration of available automobiles has been busy for several days preparing for a census of the county's motor power. It is possible the government may never see fit to profit by the proffers of the automobile owners, but the committee deems it best to be prepared for any emergency.

"Emergency use" for which the cars are asked, will require no journey of more than 20 miles from home, nor any unnecessary or unimportant task. The auto volunteers, it is possible, may be asked to furnish cars for the Red Cross work and the military camps of the Y. M. C. A. to carry policemen, soldiers, ammunition material in case of riots, or to transport troops and materials of railroad service should become necessary.

In the latter contingency, it is pointed out by Col. Barnett in a letter sent to the auto owner in the country, is possible in this state where there are so many tunnels and bridges on the railroads. He further points out the inestimable service the taxis of Paris did France during the war, and the French victory over the Germans.

Those who have offered cars from various sections of the valley are, Arthur Day, Charleroi; John Chattaway, Charleroi; Harry Cannon, Charleroi; and T. J. Underwood, Charleroi.

It is expected that automobile owners and drivers of the county will forward to a man and declare their readiness to serve their country with respect.

HOUSE AT LOCK 4 DAMAGED BY FIRE

The brick bungalow house owned by Otto Pollock, on Lock Four hill, was badly damaged by fire yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock. Just how the flames started is not known, although it is intimated the fire was due to defective electric wiring. Mr. Pollock, who is a bricklayer, was at work when the news came to him that his home was burning. He at once set out for the scene and overtaking a Charleroi baker's wagon, asked him to drive post haste to the scene. The baker was willing to oblige, but while on the way the horse stumbled and, which put the vehicle out of commission for the time being. Pollock made the balance of the journey on foot and arrived in time to assist in putting out the flames.

The roof was practically destroyed

ADDING TO CHARLEROI'S GROWING ROLL OF HONOR

Additional names were added to Charleroi's growing roll of honor on Friday, when Harry Shaffer and Earl Strasser enlisted in the United States Army at the Pittsburgh recruiting station. Charleroi's honor list is gradually growing and will be considerably increased within the next few weeks.

MANY WOODEN COACHES USED

Heavy Traffic Movement Elsewhere is Cause of Substitution

IS ONLY TEMPORARY, HOWEVER

The use of a number of wood passenger coaches of an ancient date on the Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania railroad indicate that this big transportation company is using steel coaches in other parts of the country and possibly on other divisions in troop movements. Some of the coaches recently seen on the Monongahela division would indicate they had been in "storage" for some time, and were only put into use because of the fact that the big steel coaches were not available.

Steel coaches were first put into use on the Monongahela Division four years ago this month, and have been in constant evidence since that time. Last year, during the heavy troop movements to the south a large number of the big steel coaches were withdrawn from service and up to this date, all local trains are even now not supplied with them. Further movements of troops now under way, and which will be in evidence during the remainder of the summer makes it possible that practically all of these steel coaches may be withdrawn temporarily, to be restored when conditions in the country again assume a normal tone. However, passengers are making no particular objections, realizing that the railroad company is making the best provision possible for the traveling public when the heavy traffic elsewhere is taken into consideration.

Mrs. Mary Milliken, Mrs. James Craft and family and Mrs. George Troth and family of Brownsville and W. H. Milliken of Charleroi motored to Salem, Ohio, Thursday to attend a family reunion.

While a great deal of his furniture was badly damaged. A son of Pollock, aged 3 years, who had been left at home, was taken from the building without being harmed. Pollock says his loss will amount to about $1,800, covered by insurance, there being $2,500 on the house and $700 on the furniture, placed in the Newcomer & Wolfe agency of Monessen.

Pollock was unfortunate enough a few months ago to lose $125 in cash, either by losing it, or having his pockets picked. He never recovered the money.

LOCAL ITALIANS GIVE TO RED CROSS

Local Italians, desiring to do their part in the present war, and realizing the splendid work of the Red Cross society, on Friday, mailed to the treasurer of Charleroi Chapter a check for $106.19. The check came from Salvatore Barzilai Lodge No. 468, Order of the Sons of Italy, and was the net proceeds of a picnic recently held by the local Italian society. The letter accompanying the contribution was signed by Antonio Balsano, President, and Lewis D. Tuccelli, secretary, who said they desired to aid all they could in this humanitarian movement, which is now preparing to do so much, and which is already materially assisting in the hospital work both in England and France.

WORKING DOUBLE TURN ON DONORA OIL TANKS

The Donora Steel mill is working double turn on the erection of the oil tanks, now in course of erection on a part of the baseball ground in West Columbia. A string of electric lights was put up yesterday and last night a big gang of boiler men were busy in placing the bottom plates for one of these huge receptacles. It is evidently the object of the company to have work rushed through just as rapidly as possible in order to have the tanks ready to receive the reserve supply of oil which it is proposed to carry for use at the plant.

Please do not throw away your old clothes. Give us a call. We pay good prices. H. Schaffer, Bell Phone 56-M, Fifth Street and Fallowfield, opposite Bank of Charleroi. 299-41.

SELECTIVE DRAFT FOR NATIONAL ARMY MAY BE HELD NEXT WEEK

PRICES ARE MUCH LOWER IN OIL CITY

Oil City rejoices because the cost of living has been materially reduced within the past few weeks. Potatoes which were selling at $1.29 a peck a week ago are now quoted at 60 cents, while beef which sold at 23 cents a pound now sells at 15 cents, with corresponding declines in other foodstuffs.

J. C. Sutherland, Present Recorder, is Candidate For Renomination and Election

J. C. Sutherland, present recorder of the county, is a candidate for renomination and election to that office. He will within a few weeks begin a vigorous and active campaign. Mr. Sutherland seeks support on his record as a public official basing his claim for recognition on the manner in which he has conducted this office since he has been recorder.

The testimony of the many hundreds of citizens who have had business relations in the recorder's office in the last few years is sufficient to indicate that it has been run in their interests and that the present recorder has given satisfaction.

Mr. Sutherland is seeking the nomination as a Republican, the party with which he has always been identified and to the support of whose candidates and principles he has always been loyal and active. He solicits the support of the voters of the Republican party at the primaries in September, asking them to put efficiency above precedent and to make merit rather than politics the controlling factor in the conduct of the important administrative offices of the county.

Exemption Boards Have About Completed all Necessary Details

MAY SELECT 40 NUMBERS

Contrary to expectation, the date for the selection of the new National army by draft was not announced this morning. However indications point to the fact that the drawing will be held next week, although this statement is not given out with any official authority.

Exemption boards are disposing of all the detail work necessary before the drawing can take place, and once this is completed, the government authorities can go ahead with the selection at Washington.

The method to be employed in this selective draft has been announced, all numbers to be drawn at Washington, and these numbers will correspond with names already listed by the various Boards.

The drawing of one number at Washington will mean that 30,000 men in different parts of the country have been drafted, or selected. 1,200,000 men are to be drawn. It will mean the selection of 40 numbers by the Washington authorities, out of which will be taken the necessary number of men to fill up the quota of the regular army, the National Guard as well as the new regiments to be formed for the National Army.

It is possible under the present law that plans to overcome any apparent favoritism are now being worked out, that the selections may be absolutely fair. Some districts apparently may be compelled to furnish more than others under the draft law, but all men who have volunteered up until a certain date will likely be credited to the district from whence they came, so that while their quota will be just as large, the number to be drafted may be smaller.

WILL CHANGE NAME OF BOAT AT DUQUESNE

The Carnegie Steel company, which is preparing to go into the transportation of coal on the Monongahela river, on a large scale, has obtained permission from the government to change the name of the steamer Mamie Barrett, which it recently purchased in Cincinnati, to the Duquesne. The boat is now at the Dravosburg docks undergoing repairs, its pilot house and stacks having been lowered. Fresh water tanks have also been installed on the boat. The steamer will be ready for service within a short time.

SIXTEENTH REGIMENT HAS QUOTA FILLED

The Sixteenth Regiment, National Guard, has reported to the Adjutant General at Harrisburg that its quota of 2,002 men is now filled, and no more enlistments are being received. Unless some of the recruits are turned down on the medical examination no other new members will be received by the regiment prior to entering service. This is the second regiment of the Guard to reach its full quota, the other regiment being the Third artillery.

1. SUBMARINES IN WARFARE.

Men of Iron Nerves and Quick Decision Can Work Them.

It calls for men of iron nerves and quick decision to man our submarines in peace or war," writes Frank Evans in St. Nicholas. "Submarine experts look upon the factor of nerves as the most important of all. They have given to it the title of valuation.

Within the cramped walls that are the home of the crew are housed the most intricate mechanisms that man has invented for warfare. Outside its walls are mines, great nets of explosives, shells and torpedoes, devised for its destruction, and the deep keels of ships that slice through the sea as a knife cuts cheese. The thickest steel can penetrate them, and man hold the submarine as help as a child in the grasp of a giant. Danger lies everywhere for the tit of the seas. The ocean in which it lives is a powder tank that waits for a spark. Only nerves of iron cope against such an array of enemies. The slightest hesitation of its man in the face of any of them means the end of his ship and his life.

Only one expert has put it, the whole of submarine warfare is to act on instant's warning with nerves of steel."

USING A MEDICINE DROPPER.

The More Slanting It Is Held the Big- ger the Drops Will Be.

When using a medicine dropper it is important to use it correctly, especial- ly if measuring out drops of some powerful medicine like strychnine, morphine or arsenic, for drops vary widely in their size.

Dr. R. P. Garrow of London recently reported to the Lancet the results of some experiments he had made with a medicine dropper and a simple solu- tion. He measured the solution very carefully and then took it all up into a medicine dropper, from which he let- tered it, drop by drop, holding the drop- per at 45, 60, 75, 90 and 100 degrees, and counted the drops as they fell.

With the dropper held vertically (at an angle of 90 degrees with the hori- zontal) he counted 10 drops. He then tilted it at an angle of 50 degrees its contents made only two drops, at 40 de- grees they made six drops, at 30 de- grees they made six drops, and at 20 degrees they made only forty drops.

At other angles, the drops become progressively larger. At 10 degrees it moved from the vertical position. A drop from a dropper held at an angle of 10 degrees is one quarter larger than normal; that is, if the nurse has to give sixteen drops and holds the dropper slanting she is really giving twenty. And the lower she slants the dropper the bigger the drops.

FALLS ONLY TO RISE.

An Experiment With a Sort of Perpet- ual Motion Effect.

A novel experiment in the demon- stration of perpetual motion is to be performed simply. A glass beaker about six inches high and four inches in diameter is filled with water to the height of about four and a half inches, and two and one-half to three ounces of commercial aniline are added, which will sink to the bottom of the vessel.

The temperature of the beaker and its contents is now raised to 170 or 175 degrees F. by means of a burner, when it will be observed that the aniline will rise to the surface of the water, from which it will hang in a mass of curved outline. Almost immediately the sus- pended aniline commences to alter in shape, and gradually a large drop an inch or more in diameter detaches it- self from the mass and falls through the water.

And now, the detached drop having fallen to the bottom of the beaker, comes the surprising part of the ex- periment. The fallen drop is seen grad- ually to rise to the surface, where it joins the mass from which it previously broke away. At once another drop commences to form and, having be- come detached, falls and rises in the same manner as the previous drop.

So long as the temperature of the water is maintained at 170 degrees or over the procedure continues.

The Chinese "Five Kings."

"The Five Kings" is the name of the sacred book in which is incorporated the religion of the Chinese as well as a great number of other peoples of the orient. The doctrine is a complex sys- tem of moral, social, political and reli- gious teaching built up by Confucius on the ancient Chinese traditions, and although its author lived more than five centuries before the birth of Christ it is still perpetuated as the state reli- gion of the Chinese down to the pres- ent day. Confucianism is a religion without positive revelation, with a minimum of dogmatic teaching, whose popular worship is centered in offer- ings to the dead, in which the notion of duty is extended beyond the sphere of morals proper so as to embrace al- most every detail of daily life.

Philippine Fruits.

There have been found in the Philip- pines two fruits entirely unknown to Europe and even to America. One of these is the durian, which grows on a lofty tree somewhat resembling an elm, is about as large as a coconut, has a shiny shell and contains a creamy pulp which combines some of the flavors of delicious custard with those of a fine cheese. American sol- diers in the Philippines have dubbed the durian the "vegetable hamburger." The other rare fruit is the mangrove; but the exquisitely flavored liquid it contains has not yet been successfully preserved for shipping abroad.

BANKS AND BANKNOTES.

England's First Paper Money Was Is- sued by the Goldsmiths.

With the almost entire use of paper currency at the present time the history of its origin may not be uninter- esting. In the days of the Stuarts mer- chants used to lodge their reserves of gold in the Tower, and when one day Charles I., in a thoughtless moment, annexed a large sum lodged in that way and forgot to put it back the merchants decided that henceforth they would put no more trust in princes, but would look to the gold- smiths.

The goldsmiths thereby became the first bankers, and the first goldsmith who hit upon the novel idea of giving a note, not only to the person who deposited gold, but also to the person who came to borrow, founded modern banking with an original deposit of $5,000.

The banker gave promise to pay up to, say, $25,000, and as long as there was no immediate demand on the part of the persons holding these promises to pay to have that promise converted into cash business proceeded merrily, but necessarily there was a limit be- yond which it was not safe to do this kind of business, and it was always possible that something unforeseen might happen that would bring an un- usual number of notes for presentation. As a matter of fact, this did happen frequently in the early days, and finally the government stepped in and granted the almost entire monopoly of issu- ing notes to the Bank of England.—London Standard.

TEST YOUR LUNGS.

A Simple Method by Which One May Measure His Development.

People often suffer from weak, un- developed lungs without suspecting it. True, small, feeble lungs are usually associated with a small, narrow or sunken chest, but not invariably. By means of the misuse of physical cul- ture it is possible to develop large chest muscles, thus acquiring a big chest measurement, while the lungs remain small and ill nourished.

Again, lung mischief is often so slow and insidious in its approach that the trouble is not discovered until it is firmly established. Here, however, is a simple test which will tell you whether your lungs are healthy or not: Take as deep a breath as you can, and then, in a slow but distinct voice count from one onward as far as you can without taking in more breath. The number of seconds you can con- tinue counting is a pretty reliable in- dex to the state of your lungs, so you should have some one to time you.

If your lungs are sound and normal- ly developed your range will be be- tween twenty and thirty-five seconds. If your limit is between ten and twenty seconds there is no need to be alarmed; probably your lungs are merely in need of exercise, to be read- ily obtained by regular deep breathing in pure air. A range less than ten sec- onds, however, points to more or less mischief, and you should not delay in having your lungs examined by a med- ical man.

True in Every Language.

Tennyson once attended a dinner where G. L. Craik proposed "The La- dies." In doing so he recalled the cynical advice given by a brother Scot to his children: "Take my advice and dinna marry for siller. You can bor- row cheaper."

Some time later Tennyson at his own table repeated Mr. Craik's story, but expressed the idea without attempt- ing dialect. His son, Hallam, remark- ed: "Surely, father, Craik did not use those words."

"No, he did not; but, then, Craik is a Scotchman, and I am afraid to re- ture on repeating him exactly. How- ever, it's almost as good in English as in Scotch, and it's tremendously true in both."

Their Quarrel.

Mrs. Dasher—No, dear, you really must not invite the Fannings and the Jeromes for the same evening. The two families don't speak. Dasher—Fell out over the children, I presume. Mrs. Dasher—No; their eggs quarreled.—Lure.
